

OHIO

INTRODUCTORY NOTE: In response to welfare reform, the state of Ohio established the Prevention, Retention and Contingency (PRC) program as a way of reinvesting welfare (TANF) dollars at the local level, demanding greater community involvement of public and private community-based organizations, schools, and local employers. In its summary of PRC Programs, the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services states, "The old system was reactive, responding to needs after the situation had become drastic. The new system is proactive, looking forward to prevent and strategically intervene when the investment of resources can forestall long-term dependency." While still tending to contingent, one-time urgent family needs, the program is built around outcomes-focused models envisioned and implemented on the county level. A $40 million TANF surplus from January 2000 to June 2001 allowed Ohio to expand the program to include the PRC Development Reserve (PRC-DR), a funding pool specifically aimed at generating new collaborations with nontraditional partners. Through the PRC-DR program, Ohio made a deliberate attempt to partner with faith-based organizations, overseeing the establishment of over seventy new faith-based collaborations. Combined, recent PRC and PRC-DR faith-based contracts total over $21 million dollars. Such substantial growth has made necessary the organization of a faith-based task-force, which will monitor these many new collaborations and explore further ways the faith community might be utilized as a community-building partner.

(6) Athens: Good Works Inc.

Nature of Service Provided: Homeless shelter providing job training assistance, transportation, and housing

Amount of Contract: $45,000 (TANF) for July 2000-June 2001

Contacts: Jeff Bush, Assistant Director, Athens County JFS (740) 797-2523
Keith Wasserman, Executive Director, Good Works Inc. (740) 594-3333

Address: P.O. Box 4
Athens, OH 45701

Points to Note: This agency held identical contracts for 19998 and 19999. Jeff Bush, Assistant Director of the Athens County Department of Job and Family Services, comments, "Good Works, Inc. is a faith based organi- zation providing a host of services, including both short term and long term housing services. They counsel folks on budgeting, alcohol/drug addictions, and domestic violence. In addition, they also run various support groups. We contracted with Good Works the last several years to provide education and training services for clients.”

Jeff Bush is particularly vocal about the $9 million cut in TANF funding Athens County recently suffered. He writes, “The programs that were lost [including all faith-based organizations] provided vital support for working poor families that face a daily struggle to remain off welfare. Such vital support is not merely a good financial investment in the success of welfare reform. Such vital support fulfills a moral and contractual obligation that was created by the state with welfare reform. The families that took responsibility for their own self-sufficiency by accepting low paying jobs are owed these supportive services that allow them to maintain a minimally acceptable quality of life.” Due to the “budget decisions of the Governor and General Assembly” in response to the public education funding crisis, most, if not all, of Athens County’s programs have been terminated. “The faith-based community,” Bush reports, “is being hit hard and it will only continue to worsen, especially if the economy continues to slow.”

(7) Athens County: Neighbors Helping Neighbors

Nature of Service Provided: Emergency assistance (utilities, car repairs, housing, food, summer feeding program for children, enrichment activities).

Amount of Contract: $48,000 (TANF) (July 2000-June 2001)

Contacts: Jeff Bush, Assistant Director, Athens County JFS (740) 797-2523
Ann Miller, Executive Director (740) 592-3061

Address: Information not reported

Points to Note: This agency held an identical contract for July 1999-June 2000. Bush comments, “NHN strives to bring together representatives from local churches to share information and resources. In addition, many of the churches have decided to pass on their emergency assistance funds to NHN for screening and distribution to those in need. This has been beneficial to churches because they can direct those in need to one central screening/assistance site, eliminating duplication of efforts which has been a problem for many years. Furthermore, most of the churches do not have full-time staffing at the church to assist those in need, so the change has been very beneficial to our clients as well in terms of easy access and coordination of services. In addition, we also contracted with NHN to provide summer congregate meal sites in several locations in Athens County primarily serving low-income children. These were well attended.”

(8) Belmont County: Hidden Treasures

Nature of Service Provided: Women’s Tri-County Help Center to help participants move toward self-sufficiency

Amount of Contract: $23,525 (PRC-DR); January 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: Jack Cera, Belmont County JFS (740) 633-3179
Sue Morgan, Hidden Treasures (740) 695-5441

Address: 104 1/2 North Marietta St.
St. Clairsville, OH 43950

Points to Note: From the final report submitted to the Belmont County DFS: “After researching and personally contacting successful programs with welfare families in Michigan, Virginia, California, and other states, the Hidden Treasures Program was developed to give our welfare friends hope. One of the greatest ingredients missing from families experiencing generational poverty is good accountability sources as witnessed in the classroom through the Life Mapping Program. The Church has the opportunity to stand in the gap and begin to form long-term, trusted relationships and become family to those who do not have a supportive family of their own. The Hidden Treasures Program is a great challenge to the church because it is built on relationships with people on assistance and not just a handout. The program requires more of the Church.” This contract started late, which limited the overall effectiveness of the program.

(9) Butler County: Catholic Social Services Balance Program

Nature of Service Provided: Budgeting program for eligible working parents (TANF); classroom setting offering different resources for balancing issues of work and family (problem solving skills, how to run a family meeting, building a support system, stress and conflict resolution, meal preparation, coupon utilization); classes ran four days a week for 3 to 4 hours each meeting.

Amount of Contract: $67,322 (PRC; July 1, 2001-June 30, 2002; terminated December 31); $70,695 (PRC-DR; July 1, 2000-June 30, 2001)

Contacts: Jerome Kearns, Butler County DJFS (513) 887-4100
Shelly Wallpe, Catholic Social Services (513) 863-6129 ext. 221

Address: 140 North 5th St.
Hamilton, OH 45011

Points to Note: The termination of this contract, Jerome Kearns of the Butler County Department of Job and Family Services emphasizes, was not related to any performance issues; in fact, Catholic Social Services has been, according to Kearns, one of the most valuable partners Butler County has had over the past few years. Severe budget constraints made the regrettable termination unavoidable, however. “If additional resources are made available, this contract is in the top two to be recovered,” Kearns commented.

(10) Butler County: Malachi

Nature of Services Provided and Contract Amounts:

#1 Alternative school (Project Connect): $114,762 (PRC) for July 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

#2 Mentoring (Project Side-by-Side): $240,805 (PRC) for July 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: Marlena Richards, Butler County DJFS (513) 887-4080
Sharon Bogan, Malachi (513) 420-4618

Address: 1735 South University Blvd.
P.O. Box 1314
Middletown, OH 45042

Amount of Contract: $21,032 (PRC-DR); July 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: Marcia Bailey, Champaign County JFS (937) 653-5384
Vince Chase, Catholic Social Services (937) 652-2125

Address: 641 E. High St.
Springfield, OH 45505-1011

(13) Clark County: Catholic Social Services Work Experience Program

Nature of Service Provided: WEP began a job retention program aimed at employment retention for clients out of the WEP program. WEP conducted six support groups designed to educate and empower clients to self-awareness. As a result of these groups, many clients have been able to overcome barriers and have gone on to employment.

Amount of Contract: Catholic Social Services had two PRC-DR contracts totaling $259,767 from July 1, 2000 through June 30, 2001. They are currently under a PRC contract to continue their WEP program from July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002.

Contacts: Geoffrey Steele, Assistant Director, Clark County JFS (937) 327-1717
Vince Chase, Executive Director (937) 325-8715

Address: 641 East High St.
Springfield, OH 45505

Points to Note: Clark County historically has had a strong working relationship with Catholic Social Services. Although many other FBOs were cut from funding recently, Catholic Social Services continues to maintain a central role in the provision of social service in Clark County.

(14) Clark County: Urban Light Ministries

Nature of Service Provided: Adopt a block project included job referrals, planting, parade, and Ladies Make-over Day.

Amount of Contract: $61,494 (PRC-DR); January 1, 2000-June 30, 2001; extended through 2002.

Points to Note: New Madison's tutoring services were started through the PRC-DR program. Although the funding period is now over, their services continue. This is one of many examples of how the government sponsored PRC-DR program stimulated FBO activity. New Madison was hard hit, however. They had to cut their staff and find other funding sources, according to a Darke county official. The same official said the collaboration was very fruitful and was free of any problems.

Pat Banaszak, Right to Life (937) 849-9140 or (937) 879-3313

Address: 168 Stratmore St
New Carlisle, OH 45344

Points to Note: Marsha Routzong at Right to Life reports, "I believe we have made real strides for the young families in the Fairborn and Green County area. This grant allowed us to do more this past year than we have been able to do the past eleven years we have been in town. We became more visible and have gotten into areas we had tried in the past and were not able to.... We have been helping more clients, given out more things for their activities, and have seen a lot of increase in responsible behavior within them. It is always such a challenge, but we have found with an expectation of responsible behavior, with allowances for backsliding, but also holding them accountable, seems to make them more aware that they need to work for their goals and makes the desire to do that more acute."

(62) Hardin County: Love, Inc

Nature of Service Provided: Mentoring

Amount of Contract: $29,000 (PRC-DR); January 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: C.M. Long, Director of Hardin County JFS (419)675-1130
Steve Holbrolk, Love, INC (419) 674-4651

Address: P.O. Box 782
Kenton, OH 43326

Points to Note: The contract started with a six month period of acclimation on the part of Love, Inc to the formality and bureaucracy of Hardin County. C.M. Long, director of Hardin County Department of Job and Family Services, says that after this initial period of “unease” things settled down and the relationship smoothed. Mr. Long suspects that the initial discomfort that characterized the collaboration in his county might be a common occurrence across the country. He wonders if the “loose” organizational structure of FBOs will cause for inevitable tension between the government and faith sectors.

(63) Hocking County: First Baptist Church

Nature of Service Provided: After-school program

Amount of Contract: $35,000 (PRC-DR); January 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: Debbie Reynolds, Hocking County JFS (740) 385-5663
Kenny Kidd, First Baptist (740) 385-7520

Address: P.O. Box 241
Logan, OH 43138

Points to Note: Debbie Reynolds at the Hocking Department of Job and Family Services was pleased with the collaboration and was sad to see it go when funding was cut. First Baptist used their allocation to buy computers and get the program started. With the hardware, the program was able to continue when funding was cut by the State. Due to the State’s funding crisis, Reynolds does not “foresee a time when we can entertain creative initiatives like First Baptist’s.”

(64) Holmes County: The Caring Station (Lighthouse Christian Fellowship)

Nature of Service Provided: Child care

Amount of Contract: $100,002 (PRC-DR); January 1, 2000-June 30, 2001

Contacts: Buffy Mirich, Holmes County JFS (330) 674-1111
Marcia Calhoun, Caring Station (330) 674-2748

Address: 164 North Washington St.
Millersburg, OH 44654

Points to Note: According to the final report submitted by the Caring Station, the project “strived to meet expected outcomes by expanding child care services to families in Holmes County. One of the goals met by the center was the implementation of a second shift operation. Working parents miss less work due to this expansion. There were 15 children enrolled in the second shift program. The center also remained in operation on snow days, which was a problem in the past. Working parents would miss work during the winter months when the center would close due to snow, bad weather, etc. The center also added a drop-off program where school aged children could attend the center during holiday breaks from school or when school was canceled due to bad weather. Additional curriculums were purchased for toddlers and preschoolers and additional staff were added to allow the enrollment at the center to increase.”

Holmes County adds, “Even though the Caring Station will not receive any additional funding from our agency for the next year, the center will continue to provide child care services to the families of Holmes County, with the exception of a second shift operation. While 9 families took advantage of this service during the past 18 months, any income generated would not be enough to sustain operations without subsidy. As reported by the Caring Station, this created a hardship for many of these families until different child care arrangements could be found. They are trying to continue to work with these families as they are forced to change shifts or jobs or worse, become unemployed for lack of childcare. The other programs that began at the center as result of the DR funding are doing well and will continue to operate beyond 2001.”

Amount of Contract: $62,000 ($22,000 was spent last fiscal year (PRC; March 2000-June 2001) and $42,000 has been allocated this year for the same project (PRC; July 2001-June 2002)

Contacts: Patricia Holmberg, Lucas County JFS (419) 213-8630
Bob Krompak, Director of Housing/Employment Services (419) 244-6711

Address: One Stranahan Square, Ste. 354
Toledo, OH 43604-1495

Points to Note: Krompak has never understood the controversy surrounding Charitable Choice. He has found the Lucas County Department of Family Services to be very receptive to his organization, especially since the President brought faith-based organizations into the public spotlight. JFS has done a wonderful job initiating a dialogue with the faith-based community, making these groups feel welcome at the table of state-sponsored social service.

Mary Ann DeMars, Director, Solid Rock Ministries, phone number not reported

Address: Information not reported

Points to Note: Solid Rock is essentially the work of one woman, Mary Ann DeMars, who had a heart to reach out to a local trailer park community that was 50% under the poverty level. DeMars was running the operation from one of the trailers at her own expense, helping children with their homework, transporting families, and helping adults find employment. DeMars approached the county for money and was rewarded money to support her ministry. The county raves about the work DeMars is doing and how well the collaboration went.

Address: 442 Bell St.
Akron, OH 44307

Points to Note: Project A.G.A.P.E. is one of nine faith-based organizations in Summit County that receive funding for the 2001-2002 fiscal year. This is part of a newly-organized faith-based initiative that has been launched by the county to extend the scope and impact of its social service offerings. Marilyn Walker, social program supervisor at the Summit County Department of Job and Family Services, comments, "We started the initiative to reach people who might not come to us, to impact people who need supportive services." The initiative is just getting started and Walker hopes it will be a model for the rest of the country to follow.

Terry Geiser, Catholic Charities (330) 262-7836

Address: 521 Beall
Wooster, OH 44691

Points to Note: Becky Wagoner at the Wayne County Department of Job and Family Services raves about the work of Terry Geiser and Catholic Charities. Geiser's deep concern for DJFS clients not only helped them get back on track, but the trust she earned from the clients allowed her to discover and address other needs in the process. Wagoner said there were no conflicts of interest and the collaboration went smoothly. Though Catholic Charities is not currently being funded, Wagoner hopes to extend funding to the organization next fiscal year.
